LIVING IS A PROJECT…ARE YOU READY?™

WISER Pivots™

An adaptive cycle for navigating change.

WAIT → INSPECT → SELECT → EMBRACE → PIVOT → REVIEW → ↻ WAIT

W WAIT

Resist the reaction.

Something changed. Give yourself enough space to respond intentionally rather than simply react.

I INSPECT

See what is true now.

Look at the current reality. What changed? What remains? What is working? What isn't?

S SELECT

Choose what matters now.

Priorities can change when circumstances change. Decide what requires your attention now—and what can wait.

E EMBRACE

Accept the need to adapt.

You don't have to like the change to acknowledge it. Embrace the reality of where you are so you can determine how to move forward.

PIVOT

PERSONAL + INTENTIONAL ACTION

Make the turn.

You have waited. You have inspected. You have selected. You have embraced the need for change.

Now decide what to do with what you know.

A pivot may mean changing the route—not the destination. It may mean changing the timeline, reordering priorities, moving resources, reducing scope, trying another approach, or recognizing that the destination itself needs to change.

A Wiser Pivot™ is an intentional action you choose in response to what has changed.

R REVIEW

Learn from your pivot.

What happened after you made the turn? Did it move you closer to your destination? What worked? What didn't? What did you learn? What needs another adjustment?

When circumstances change again, return to WAIT.

The bend is not the end. Be ready to make the turn.
